Patrick's family immigrated to America when he was 10 years old. His parents fled Iran at the time of the Iranian Revolution and were granted citizenship in the United States. In 2013, Patrick founded Valuetainment, a media brand intended to teach entrepreneurship fundamentals and inspire people to break free from detrimental beliefs and limitations. In addition to providing news, other content partners, and a weekly podcast, it has been dubbed "the best channel for entrepreneurs" in the field online. Speaking on topics ranging from leadership, management and entrepreneurship, Patrick discusses the "how and why" to become an entrepreneur, as well as the importance of learning how to fully process issues.
